

WILL ROY

Master of Variety

The Show

Maximum laughter and applause are Will's goal as he performs as the "Master of Variety" in a one-man show that is guaranteed to be a highlight of any event. This family friendly act direct from Las Vegas, combines magic, juggling and comedy in one fast paced show.

The show quickly evolves from the standard comedy magic act into something else as Will claims to be the master of some other skill that he displays to the audience with his own unique delivery. Whether it is with his dry wit, improvisational skills with the audience or just showing off his pure skill accompanied to music, Will keeps the audience on the edge of their seats as only a seasoned professional can.

Length: Will's most requested show length is 30 to 45 minutes which is the perfect length for most audiences. But shows can be up to an hour or even longer with support acts.

Venues: Will's act can work for just about any audience and venue. He has been a huge hit in shows on the Las Vegas strip, cruise ships, corporate events , colleges, fairs, festivals, amusement parks, resorts and more. His show is self contained and technical requirements can be kept to a minimum without losing any entertainment value.

Customization: Every show is geared to your specific audience and venue. Will can also completely customize his show to fit your theme or topic. Whether it be adding a special message thru his script, adding additional illusions or routines, or something as simple as a costume request or using a particular audience member for a routine.

Sample Routines

Master Magician: A long piece of white paper is torn up and Will fails to restore it so he places the torn pieces in his mouth and slowly pulls it out restored but now it is over 25 feet long and in multiple colors!

Master Mind Reader: Will reveals his comic predictions to what an audience member is thinking, but leaves the audience in shock as his last prediction is impossibly correct!

Master Juggler: Will displays his talent with 3 to 5 balls in a technical routine set to upbeat music. The routine can also be performed in the complete dark with special illuminated balls, as a finale for this routine, the 5 balls disappear in mid air as being juggled!

Knife Juggling: A volunteer is selected and is taken aback to learn that Will will attempt to juggle knives over their body. This never happens of course, but usually not before the volunteer lets out a large scream. The routine concludes with a deft display of knife juggling after the volunteer is led back to their seat with a one of a kind souvenir.

Master Escape Artist: Will is strapped into an authentic straight jacket by a volunteer and comedy arises as the volunteer makes sure that every buckle is secured and is as tight as possible. Will then proceeds to escape in less than 90 seconds while performing popular dance moves to the songs being played as he escapes.

Lord of the Rings: 4 members of the audience are selected to take a large ring and then instructed to throw the rings up on to the stage so it will land on Will's head. Comedy ensues as the volunteers try to coordinate this effort of team work while the "Saber Dance" song plays in the back ground.

Other Presentations

Flash Appearance: Have your CEO or VIP magically appear on stage for an attention grabber. Smoke blasts, confetti cannons and other effects can also be added for a bigger impression.

Pain in the Neck: Will or even someone else can be taught to impale a sword thru your boss's neck. Only leaves a small mark.

Sawing in Half: Have your favorite person sawed in half. No preparation is needed with the victim, so it can be a complete surprise for them when they are brought on stage.

Large & Custom Illusions: Large and custom illusions can also be provided for your event. Need to make your new product appear, float or vanish, Will can help make it happen. Showgirls and exotic livestock are also available.

Juggling Lesson Presentation: Will teaches your group how to juggle in 3 simple steps while expounding the virtues of planning and goal setting. This is the perfect activity to break up a day of seminars, while still offering a valuable educational experience. Custom juggling balls can be imprinted with your logo or message.

Magic Lesson Presentation: Magic is the perfect way to break the ice and gain self-confidence. Have Will teach your sales staff or other group some simple, powerful magic tricks that they will be able to perform for their clients. Custom props with your message or logo can be provided.

Close-up Magic: Spice up any cocktail reception with Will as a strolling magician to entertain your guests. Multiple magicians are recommended for groups over 100 people. Will's customized close-up magic presentations are also a great way to draw large crowds to your booth during your next trade show.

Bio

Thousands of audiences of all ages and back grounds have enjoyed the magic, juggling and comedy of Will Roya. His variety of skill, versatility and unique comic delivery continues to enthrall audiences around the world with his antics and artistry.

His career was launched in High School when he presented a magic show for a fine arts class. The show was such a hit, that he decided to pursue entertaining professionally. While studying at the University of Vermont, he expanded his clientele to all parts of Vermont. During this time, Will also developed his other skills such as juggling, balloon sculpting, and unicycling.

After graduation in 1999, it was a true turning point in Will's life and career. He decided to move to Las Vegas with no job and no connections. After working at a magic shop for six months to pay the bills, Will finally got a break on a cruise ship line and headlined for Princess Cruise for over a year.

Having honed his act on the ships, but wanting to limit his travel, Will started producing shows that he would perform in, becoming the youngest producer and headliner in Las Vegas in the process. After starring in his most recent show "Spotlight" for over a year he once again took his act on the road in 2006 performing a 2 month tour of resorts in the Dominican Republic, then a 5 month contract as the "The Ultimate One-Man Variety Show" at the Six Flags amusement park in St. Louis.

Will continues to entertain corporate and VIP clients in Las Vegas and around the world between his long term contracts. When not performing, improving his act or spending time with his family, Will uses his spare time producing and starring in instructional DVDs on magic, juggling and other related skills.

Every show presents a new challenge to Will as he tries to make each show better than his last, putting his full effort and heart into every performance. He looks forward to taking his show to the next level and eventually his own TV series. Will lives by the motto "if you don't take a chance, you don't have a chance" and when his new clients take a chance on Will they are never disappointed.
